Atomic Exhibit Begins Tomorrow

An atomic energy exhibit, the first of its kind ever to be shown in this area, will be on display on campus Oct. 18 through Oct. 22. The exhibit will be shown in the men's gymnasium Saturday, Oct. 18, Monday, Oct. 20, and Tuesday, Oct. 22, from 12 p. m. to 8 p. m. The Sunday exhibit will be from 1 to 6 p. m.

The exhibit will be of particular interest to any person concerned with the possibilities of atomic energy and the current usage of this power. On display will be such items as atomic footprints, artificial lighting, split uranium atoms, Geiger counters, and an atomic furnace. THE EXHIBIT is being sponsored jointly by the Division of University Extension, the National University Extension Association, the Atomic Energy Commission, and the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies. Those departments on campus that are also sponsoring the exhibit are physics, chemistry, geography and geology, mathematics, and physiology.

Jack Johnson, an American Museum of Atomic Energy representative, will accompany the exhibit to the campus. The exhibit, which comes directly from the Institute of Nuclear Studies, Oak Ridge, Tenn., has already been shown in various southern states. From here the exhibit will be moved to Nebraska. More than 30 authoritative scientists on various phases of atomic energy are contained in the exhibit, and one interesting and easily understandable to the layman, according to Jim Cannon, director of the extension staff who is in charge of the arrangements.

SOME OF THE basic facts of atomic energy to be presented are the parts of an atom, the content of hydrogen and helium atoms, the size of atoms, binding energy, the uranium isotopes, and Einstein's equation.

Also on display will be radioisotopes, or tracer atoms, which have been called the most important research tools to be developed since the invention of the microscope.

Visitors to the show will learn how radioisotopes are produced by inserting an ordinary dime into a scale model of an atomic pile. The dime is irradiated by neutron bombardment within the metal and some of the normal silver in the coin is converted into a radioactive isotope of silver. The irradiated dime, which is harmless, is then encased in an aluminum and lucite holder as a souvenir.

Faculty members working on the exhibit are William Lucke, physics department; Elbert Hadley, chemistry department; Harold Kaplan, physics department; Amos Black, mathematics department; Stanley Harris, geology and geography department; and Raymond Dev, Division of University Extension.

Several SIU students will be in charge of demonstration tours through the gem through the exhibit.

Letters have been sent to science instructors in the surrounding area, and publicity releases have gone to out-of-town papers. A large number of out-of-town visitors are expected to attend, according to Jim Cannon.

Picture exhibits prior to the exhibit will be displayed in Old Main, the Allyn building, and the Old Science building.

AGRICULTURAL usage of isotopes is the theme of the display shown above which will appear in the Atomic Energy Exhibition opening here on campus tomorrow. The exhibit is being sponsored jointly by Southern's Extension division, National University Extension Association, the Atomic Energy Commission, and the American Museum of Atomic Energy.

First Homecoming Assembly Resembles Convention Hall

With much resemblance to a political convention at Convention Hall, the 1952 Homecoming kickoff assembly was held yesterday at 9 a. m. in Shroyok auditorium to introduce to the student body the steering committee and the candidates for Homecoming queen, court, and attendants.

The program was opened with music furnished by the Southern Illinois University band. Lloyd Bitzer, acting as master of ceremonies, introduced Dr. George Hand, chief executive assistant to the President, who presented the kickoff speech for this year's Homecoming.

Jim Schmuck, general Homecoming chairman, introduced Bob Etheridge, the co-vice chairmen, and the steering committee. Co-vice chairmen are Wilma Beadle and Gene Graves.

Candidates for Homecoming queen, court, and attendants were presented by Doug Sheppard, chairman of the Queen's committee, and as each girl was introduced her respective organization held a demonstration in her honor.

Candidates vying for position of the Queen are: Mizzie Cagle, ISA, Eldorado, majoring in speech correction in the College of Education; and Audrey Mayer, Sigma Sigma Sigma, St. Louis, majoring in art education in the College of Education.

In the contest for Queen's Court are: Mary Meyer, ISA, Centralia, majoring in botany in the college of Vocations and Professions; Helen Nance, Delta Sigma Epsilon, Carbondale, majoring in journalism in the College of Education; Pat Nagu, Pi Kappa Sigma, Granite City, majoring in education in the College of Education; Nancy Rains, ISA, West Frankfort, majoring in business in the College of Education.

Candidates in the running for the position of attendants are: the queen are: Brittain Hall, Pi Kappa Sigma; Pat Miller, ISA; Dixie Rian, ISA; and Ann Traveancat, Anthony Hall.

ISA Sponsors Juke Box Dance

An all-school Juke Box dance which was sponsored by the Independent Student Association was held last night in the men's gymnasium from 7:30 to 10 o'clock.

This dance was the second in a series of ten scheduled social events planned by the ISA for this school year.

All ISA candidates for the coming elections were introduced at the dance by Jerry Fear, ISA political action chairman.

Freda Cover and Paul Morris were in charge of admission. Other members of the committee were Bobbie Kruse, Bill Williams, Agnes Schwer, and Jim Miller.

Ethel Smith, Organist, To Appear Here Oct. 23

Ethel Smith, of "Tico Tico" fame, will present an organ concert in Shroyok auditorium, Oct. 23. The concert, sponsored by the Entertainment and Lectures Committee, will be given at 8 p. m.

After graduating from Carnegie Institute of Technology, Miss Smith played the piano for a musical show, toured night clubs in Florida and South America, and starred on the "Hit Parade" radio program.

Her radio contract was followed by a movie offer and recording offer. In the movie "Barbette Beauty," Miss Smith became the first organist to be featured at the electric organ in films. The song "Tico Tico" which was introduced in the film, has sold over three million copies. Miss Smith is a recording artist for Decca.

Recently Ethel Smith established another of her many "firsts" on the electric organ by appearing with the Boston "Pops" Orchestra and the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra in a series of symphonic concerts. Along with her concert work, she is appearing on a radio-television stage and screen engagement.

In addition to her performances on the radio, Miss Smith takes part in frequent "voice of America" broadcasts, speaking in her fans in their own language. Spanish, Italian, French, Portuguese, and German.

The organist recently returned from a European concert tour where she appeared in the London Palladium, Glasgow's Empire Theatre, and the Lido in Paris. A command performance was given for Prince Charles of Belgium at the royal palace.

Miss Smith has a wide scope of activities. Aside from her playing engagements, she conducts a music publishing business which publishes all her organ arrangements as well as instruction material and repertoire for the home, church, and concert organ. Only recently she published her book about her collection of percussion instruments.

All students and the public are invited to attend the concert. There will be no admission charge.

THE ABOVE display will be part of a traveling display to be taken to Southern Illinois towns as a part of SIU's fourth Leonardo da Vinci festival, Nov. 12-15, celebrating the 500th anniversary of da Vinci's birth. Jack DeBernardi, freshman from Sandford, talks to the poster designers: Marilyn Wabrand, Carbondale sophomore, and Esther Bennett, museum-instructor, who is in charge of all exhibits.

Request Acts For Parents' Day

Southern's social chairman is asking students who would like to perform at a dinner to be given on Parents' Day, Nov. 7, to contact Miss Greenleaf in the Office of Student Affairs or their organization chairman.

The dinner will be served by Seabauer, director of SIU food service in the men's gym from 5:30 to 7:00 p. m.

Deater Peak and his band will provide music throughout the dinner. The social chairman wants other acts submitted and would like any individuals or groups who would be interested in performing to contact the above mentioned persons. They are especially interested in tap dancing, musical quartets, or baton twirling exhibitions.

Education Group Plans Open House

Monday at 3:30 p. m. an open house in honor of all sophomore and junior women in the College of Education will be held in the Student Center. The affair is being sponsored by Pi Lambda, women's honorary education fraternity.

The open house will be informal and will last until 5:30 p. m.

Center Committee Sets Date For Open House

Plans have been released today for the Student Center's annual open house to be held Tuesday, Oct. 21, from 7 to 10 p. m.

Theme of the open house is "Halloween Hollow." The Student Center steering committee headed by Freda Cover, senior from West Frankfort, will make arrangements.

POLLS were kept busy Tuesday when nominations for Homecoming Queen's Court, Homecoming attendants, and class officers

Southern students turned out 679 strong to nominate six girls for the Homecoming Queen's Court and four girls for Homecoming attendants in primary elections held on campus Tuesday. This is one of the largest turn-outs for nominations in Southern's history.

Audrey Meyer, with 327 votes; Helen Nance, with 318; Mizzie Cagle, with 317; Pat Nagu, with 298; Mary Meyer, with 244; and Nancy Rains, with 228 votes, were the girls nominated for Queen's Court. Their names will appear on the final election ballots Tuesday. Nominated for attendants were Betty Hall, with 95 votes; Ann Traveancat, with 98; Dixie Rian, with 54; and Pat Miller, with 52 votes. Their names will also appear on the final ballots.

In order to be nominated a girl had to receive a minimum of ten nominating votes. In the final election to be held Tuesday, Oct. 21, three girls will be elected for Queen's Court with the girl who gets the highest number of votes receiving the title of Homecoming Queen. Voting will be preferential.

Also in nominations Tuesday, six students from each of the four classes were nominated for class officers. Freshmen nominated Thelma Walker, with 98 votes, and Roger Robinson, with 80 votes, for president. Selected to run for the position of vice-president were Jan Evans, with 105, and Art Trippel, with 83. Secretary-treasurer nominees are Nancy Blackwell, with 103, and Linda McGee, with 80.

IN THE SOPHOMORE class, Dexter Peak and Jim Bowers were nominated for primary voting received 51 and 97 votes respectively in the primaries. Sylvia Saunders, with 46, and Louis Hoover, with 90, were nominated for the vice-presidency. Sophomore candidates for secretary-treasurer are Sally Lewis, with 91, and Nancy Davidson, with 44 nominating votes. Due to grade averages, Tim Bowers, presidential nominee for the sophomore class, was declared ineligible.

Presidential candidates in the junior class are Jim Hogeland, with 39, and lambda Brown, with 54 votes. Gloria King and Richard Coleman with 41 and 62 votes respectively were nominated for senior president positions. Nominees for junior secretary-treasurer are Winnie Bollinger, with 34, and Joan Davis, with 66.

SENIORS chose Jim Schmuck, with 59 votes, and Chuck Hare, with 21, as class president nominees. Vice-president candidates are Wilma Beadle, with 56, and Oma Dorris, with 21 nominating votes. Don Shelton, with 53, and Laura Bolen, with 17 votes, were nominated for senior secretary-treasurer.

Balls for the final elections will open at 8 a. m. Tuesday and will remain open until 4 p. m. The polls will be located in front of Old Main, but in the event of bad weather, they will be moved to the crosshalls of Old Main.

Members of the Student Council will man the polls and will count the votes for the exception of the Queen's Court votes, the outcome of which will be kept a secret until the Homecoming Queen coronation ceremonies to be held Thursday, Oct. 30.

St. Louis Jazz Band Plays Here

The men's gym was jumpin' Tuesday night when Singleton Palmer and his Dixieland Six, from St. Louis, appeared for a concert and dance. The Jazz band was brought here by Sigma Pi fraternity and played a series of popular tunes.

The band, which is currently appearing at the Playdium in E. St. Louis, played such selections as "St. Louis Woman," "I Wish I Could Shimmy Like My Sister Kate," "Swing with Me," "When the Saints Go Marching In," and "Mardi Gras, My Lady."

The band previous to its engagement at the Playdium appeared at the Collinsville Park, in Collinsville, and the Windermere Club in St. Louis.

Singleton Palmer is not a new personality to Southern students, having appeared here before for jazz concerts and dances. His popularity, which was quite evident by the number of persons attending the concert and dance, prompted the Sigma Pi's to invite him to St. Louis again.

Lucky Boys Win Tickets In Contest

Quick thinking and keen wit have enabled two Southern students to cash in on the Homecoming Luck Contest sponsored by the Homecoming publicity committee and the Egyptian.

Brace Lore correctly guessed the answer to the clues in last Friday's paper and received his dance ticket Monday from Bob Etheridge at the office of Student Affairs at 10 a. m. The clue was: "Mush on push on, then you'll find the one it's on. Pick up pocket, and then you've got it. If you know a good Joe, he'll put you in the know." The answer was Joe Hulse.

The clues in Tuesday's paper were guessed by George Mackenzie who received his concert ticket from Bob Etheridge at 11 a. m. Tuesday. The clues to this were: "Count down three, and there it will be. They stand like soldiers all in a row, but you'll have to look below. It won't take long to iron them, they're coming to appear in the Egyptian until Homecoming. Each series leads to the location of a note entitled the Finder to a free dance ticket if the clues are in a Friday edition or in two concert tickets if the clues are printed in a Tuesday edition."

The series of clues will continue to appear in the Egyptian until Homecoming. Each series leads to the location of a note entitled the Finder to a free dance ticket if the clues are in a Friday edition or in two concert tickets if the clues are printed in a Tuesday edition.

Hunsinger will speak from 8 until 9 p. m. Sunday, preceded by refreshments at 7:30.

SIU Band Adds New Twirlers

Two new twirlers made their first appearance with the Saluki Band in a parade which was held at Centralia, Monday, Oct. 13. They are Betty Ross, Delta Sigma Epsilon pledge from St. Louis, and Evelyn Schubach, Anthony Hall, from Shelby.

Betty is a freshman majoring in art in the College of Vocations and Professions. She was a majorette for four years at Southwest High School, St. Louis. She has also been in the Du Quoin State fair exhibition.

Evelyn is also a freshman, majoring in elementary education. Her previous twirling experience prior to entering Southern included being a drum majorette for two years at Ashler Township high school and teaching twirling classes.

Dr. Hunsinger To Speak at Soiree

Records of Bible readings by Charles Augustus, Harold Coleman, and Orson Wells will be played at this week's Sunday Soiree program at the Student Center. Dr. Paul Hunsinger, assistant professor of science, will play these records in connection with his talk "Literary Approach to the Bible."

Dr. Hunsinger has done research on oral tradition of the Bible to the American Bible Society and is the author of articles for religious publications. Hunsinger will speak from 8 until 9 p. m. Sunday, preceded by refreshments at 7:30.

An Improvement, but—

Well what do you know — the voting situation typical of SIU is beginning to rise out of a slump at long last. Tuesday's nominations show that interest in campus elections has picked up a little, and this is a fact we can't complain about, although there is still room for improvement.

Previous to the primary election Tuesday, 450 was the highest number of students voting in a nominating election according to a survey of articles in back issues of the Egyptian. And, by George, if we didn't suppose that record by more than 200 votes!

Yes, the total number of students voting in the nomination election Tuesday was a fat 679. That sounds good in comparison to past figures, but then how does it sound in comparison to the number of students enrolled in school? That's where the rub comes.

In order for the girls in the Homecoming Queen's Court, the attendants, and the class officers to be true choices of the students attending classes here at SIU, more than any 679 will have to vote in the final election this coming Tuesday.

When comparing the 679 nominating votes with the enrollment, one can easily see that not even one fourth of the student body made nominations. Someone may say that such a turnout is all right for nominations — that they aren't as important as the final election. We'll have to go along with that belief to some extent, for 679 is certainly an improvement for us. However, it's the final elections we are now concerned with, for they are yet to come and we can do something about the turnout for them.

Voting in the final election won't be near as difficult as making nominations, for the names will already be on the ballots and all that will be required are checks in the squares, whereas in the nominations one has to think up names to write down all on his own. So there is no excuse for even the laziest of us to not vote in the final election.

About the location of the polls — they will be right in front of Old Main, or if the weather is too bad, in the cove. Certainly, most of Southern's students hit Old Main sometime during a day's events, so actually the effort of an extra trip is not even necessary.

There is one thing that we must do, however, and that is to remember our activity cards. With all the math, science, grammar, etc. that we manage to remember for exams, surely we can remember a little, old activity card just once.

As they say in the movies concerning the national election, "We don't care how you vote, but vote!" The names of the candidates which will appear on the ballots Tuesday appear on page one of this issue.

In closing, we just want to stress the point that even though we have reason to be proud of the improved turnout for nominations, there is still need and plenty of room for more improvement. So, let's remember the election Tuesday and not get too puffed up over this last Tuesday's turnout. B.V.B.

No Hunting

The following statement on the University's policy concerning hunting on University property has been prepared by Professor George H. Hand, Chief Executive Assistant:

"We feel that it is to the best interest of the University program to post 'No Hunting' signs on University owned and University leased property. We would appreciate the cooperation of the faculty and staff members of the University in the observance of this 'No Hunting' rule because the minute a shot is fired by a member of the faculty or staff the area is automatically open to the public for hunting. We cannot be in the position of furnishing private hunting grounds for faculty and staff members, and we cannot open out lands to all hunters."

W. W. Trobaugh Preserves Spirit Of General Store Here On Campus

By BOB BRIMM

The general store has been preserved, in spirit at least, on Southern's campus. Despite the changes which have taken place in the university's expansion, the little store which has been operated by W. W. Trobaugh for the past 14 years is still doing business here.

Starting in 1932, Trobaugh took over the management of a filling station across the street from the present location of the Journalism House.

After six years at the filling station, Trobaugh added a small store to his filling station and began his grocery store business.

He operated his filling station and store jointly until the property was purchased by the university in 1947. In 1950, he moved into his present location in the east end of the building near barracks G.

In addition to meeting students in his store daily throughout the year, Trobaugh and his wife have kept student roomers and boarders in their home for about 25 years. Trobaugh's first contact with the University came in 1898, when he entered the Normal school. Comparing the two-year course of study then offered, he began teaching at the age of 21. He taught at a number of country schools in the Carbondale area.

Subsequent to teaching in these schools, Trobaugh farmed for about 21 years. Then, he and his wife and two sons, Earl and Carol, moved to town.

This move to town was in 1924, the year, Trobaugh remembers, that the men's grammar was built. Soon after, he recalls, the Parkinson Lab building was erected.

There have been many changes in the campus since Trobaugh and his family moved to Carbondale. Of special note is the change in the campus of 1898 and that of today. When Trobaugh attended Southern, there were just two main buildings on campus — Old Main and Old Science.

In regard to the comparison of students through the years that Trobaugh has observed here, he says that they haven't changed much. "Each year brings new students, and several years have brought increased numbers to the campus, but each group is about the same as the last. Students don't seem to get better or worse, as a group," said Trobaugh.

The average day brings to Trobaugh's store numbers of students who have a free period and can sit in the store.

Graham To Represent SIU At Inauguration
Dr. Jack W. Graham, supervisor of counseling and testing in the office of Student Affairs at Southern Illinois University, will be the official representative from Southern for the inauguration of Russell Jay Humbert as President of DePaul University tomorrow Oct. 18.

Dr. Graham graduated from DePaul in 1946 and was a member of the instructional staff at DePaul in 1943-45 and 1947-49.

Faculty Member Rides In Style—On Bicycle

"Do you think it's peculiar that I ride a bicycle to school?" This was the statement received from Dr. Norman Caldwell, professor of biology at SIU, when interviewed for a feature story in connection with his riding a bicycle to school.

Now that I think about it, I half expected Dr. Caldwell to ask me this because it sounds to reason that the Egyptian wanted to do this feature on his riding a bicycle to school would have to constitute something out of the ordinary. But now that I have interviewed him, it is plain to see it is no idiosyncrasy on his part, but just "doing what comes naturally."

Dr. Caldwell has been teaching at Southern for seven years, and during these seven years he has ridden his bicycle to school. He acquired the habit of riding in Germany where he went to school, and there, as in all Europe, it was no oddity but a normal thing. What Caldwell cannot understand is why it should be considered so eccentric here.

Caldwell has used the same bicycle for 17 years, although now he has a new English-type one. According to Dr. Caldwell, "Some think that riding a kid's game, and as soon as one is old enough to get behind the wheel of a car, then they're really on their feet — they're grown up!" He thinks people seem to forget the simpler things in life.

Dr. Caldwell says that there is something individual in riding a Twisting through his weight belt the Democratic John F. Lewis is giving the administration a big headache in the threatened reelection coal strike.

A $190 a day wage boost was recently wrangled for the miners by Lewis, but the mine owners say they can't pay the new rate until the Wage Stabilization Board approves the boost.

The board is struggling over the problem in Washington right now. This pay increase is the largest that has ever had to be approved. It is given the green light, wage stabilization as a general thing may suffer. On the other hand, only partial approval of the Lewis pay raise might lead to an industry-wide coal strike in the home stretch of the political campaign.

To Be Shown In Atomic Energy Exhibit Here

EFFECTS of the atomic bomb and a nuclear fusion display pictured above are only two of the 30 sections on various phases of atomic energy to be shown in the Atomic Energy Exhibit which opens in the men's gymnasium tomorrow. The exhibit pictured on the left shows how electricity may someday be generated as a result of operating a nuclear fu-

nance. The exhibit on the right shows the effects of the atomic bomb. The display is a portion of a plan devised to help educate the American people to the possibilities of atomic energy as well as its destructive power. The display, which is coming directly to the campus from the Institute of Nuclear Studies, Oak Ridge, Tenn., is the only one scheduled in the state of Illinois up-to-date.

The mobile exhibit is being co-sponsored by Southern's Extension division, The Atomic Energy Commission, National University Extension Association, and the American Museum of Atomic Energy. The following departments of Southern's campus are also sponsoring the exhibit: physics, chemistry, geography and geology, mathematics, and physiology.

University Cars Are Available To Both Students and Faculty

By BILL YOUNG

Want to take a trip? If you have University business then it is easy to go in one of the automobiles operated by the University.

Any department or University office of SIU may make reservations for the use of a car. A charge on a mileage basis will be charged to the department; this rate will be based on the current costs of operating the fleet.

TO MAKE A reservation for a car, the organization desiring transportation should call the physical plant at least one week before the date it will be needed. If an automobile is available, the reservation can be made by stating the name of the department, the date or dates the car will be needed, the destination, the name of the driver, and the time the car will be called for and returned to the Physical Plant.

Under the present set-up those who are approved to drive the university cars include those persons who are employed by the University in other capacities than that of a chauffeur. A driver's license is required of all drivers. Students may be permitted to drive university automobiles under the same conditions as for regular employees.

IF A PERSON who is not an employee nor a student of the university wishes to operate a university vehicle he must have authorization from the head of the department affected, approval by the director of the physical plant, and be a licensed driver.

A credit card is provided by the university for expenses necessary to the operation of the car, gasoline, oil, and other incidental fees. In case of major mechanical difficulties, repairs should be made at a garage and a copy of the bill should be sent or brought to the physical plant office.

FOR THE PROTECTION of those involved, the university carries insurance covering its own and the authorized driver's legal liability for bodily injury and property damage to others caused by the operation of the university automobile. No accident insurance is provided, however, for the passengers or the driver, and for this reason university-owned machines should not be used for transporting students or other persons without being properly approved.

Provision is made for reimbursement for use of a personal car on a mileage basis, when it is necessary to use a private vehicle. Details concerning private transportation and student field trips can be obtained by contacting the physical plant office.

Exchange Student Comments On SIU

By JIM AIKEN

"Southern Illinois University is such a wonderful place to me because the people are so friendly and the students are so eager to learn," said Mademoiselle Maria Antoinette Underciner, a Southern exchange student from France.

Mademoiselle Underciner is doing graduate work in English, as well as teaching both French and German conversation in the foreign language department.

NUNHOUSE, a small town in the Alsace-Lorraine district, is her home. Although this district is now a part of France, it was controlled by Germany during World War I. Mademoiselle Underciner's family was under German rule.

She did her undergraduate work at Strasbourg University, not far from her home.

When asked why her parents chose the name of France's most famous Queen for their daughter, she replied, "When I was born my parents didn't think of a name for me, so my mother decided to call me Maria Antoinette, although I don't think that she had the Queen in mind."

DEC. 2, 1951 was the date of Maria Antoinette's arrival in New York. She said that her visit to the big city was a thrilling one indeed.

"The view from the top of the Empire State building is one of the marvels of the world," was her reply when asked her most interesting experience in America. She also visited Chicago this summer to hear Eisenhower speak at the Republican convention. Her main interest in attending the convention was to observe the people's behavior. "It was amazing," she said.

Mademoiselle Underciner's stay at SIU will expire officially in June, but she said that she would like very much to return in the fall.

Wednesday night.

The province meeting which was scheduled for Dec. 10 and 11 at Eastern State college, Charleston, Illinois, was canceled because of the polio epidemic at Charleston.

Pledges in charge of the Homecoming float are: Dixie Brothers, Mary Bolen, Jan Evans, Ellie Nelson, Carol Moore, and Betty Ross. Miss Julia Neely, Delta Sigma patroness and instructor in English department at SIU, died Sunday, Oct. 12.

Tracy Turvey Day was held Monday.

ANTHONY HALL was scheduled last week by a group of ISA members.

Committee chairmen for Homecoming are: floor committee, Mary Ellen Maloney and Violet Kelly; house decorations, Jane Meyer and Marjorie Johnson; political action, Ann Hunziker and Mary Ellen Maloney.

Anger Hall girls who will appear in the Homecoming play "First Lady" are Phyllis Owen, who has one of the leads, and Nan Edwards.

ENGAGEMENTS: Violet Ross, 700 Club, to Pto. Norman H. Nohren.

Marlene Meserli, 700 Club, to Clarence Huberman, SIU.

Pat Soles, Gables, to Bill Alexander, Cairo.

MARRIAGES: Pat Markland, Pi Kappa alum, to Webster Miller.

PINNING: Nora Jo Ludlow, Anthony Hall, to Towle Brown, Harrisburg.

Geology Club Takes Trip

Eight SIU students and two faculty members participated in the annual Tri-State Geology Field conference at Dixon, Oct. 10 to Oct. 12. The students are members of a newly-organized geology club at Southern.

The annual field conference, arranged for geology students by colleges and geology surveys of Illinois, Wisconsin and Iowa, is an alternate in one of the three states. During the tour, participants studied the correlation and comparison of rock samples formed about 450,000,000 years ago in Northern Illinois with samples of the same period in Southern Illinois. The Illinois Geological survey has made an extensive study of geology of the Rock River valley in the Dixon area.

Participating from Southern were: John Boyd, George I. Harrell, Betty Hargan, Charles Ross, and J. L. Schickel. Village Sullivan, Berlin, Warren, and John Keller, SIU faculty sponsors and their wives attending were Dr. and Mrs. Stanley Harris, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Jules Dolbar.

Arrangements have been made by William L. Newton, a graduate of Southern, and M. Seidinger of the Bosch and Lomb Co. in special attention to science classes and science clubs. Science teachers and advanced science students are especially invited to attend the second day of the exhibit.

Students interested in scientific equipment are invited to attend the exhibit either day.

Southern Faces Tough Central Michigan Crew

By Don Duffy
"They're really tough and they're an understatement," commented Southern's head football coach Bill O'Brien referring to the Central Michigan Chippewa football crew. O'Brien's Salukis travel to Mt. Pleasant to meet the high-flying Chippewas in an IAC contest tomorrow night.

A 56-7 trouncing of Northern Illinois, defending champions, and a 27-0 drubbing of Western Illinois mark the "Chips" as the conference's strongest. This, however, was merely confirming pre-season speculations by coaches and sports writers.

Pigskin Has Family Tree

Next time you're huddled up with a blonde and a blonkie in McAndrew stadium braving the cold and your girl's scolding, think of what's happening below on the grid iron, console yourself with the thought that Aristotle, Caesar or even St. Peter possibly had to put up with it, too.

For the game of football, in one crude form or another, is almost as old as history itself. Harpagon, a game similar to English Rugby, was played in ancient Greece and Rome. Even in biblical literature, games are described in which a ball is kicked along an open field.

THE EARLY HISTORY OF FOOTBALL IS MOSTLY LEGENDARY. BUT BY THE EARLY 1800'S SAID ENGLISHMEN WERE BARKING THEIR SHINS, BUSTING THEIR HEADS AND FLEECING THEIR COPS PARTICIPATING IN, OR JUST WATCHING THE NATIONAL PASTIME.

"The more the merrier" was the motto. A team could consist of any number of men brave enough to sacrifice teeth and limbs. As it began to assume more interest, the number of players on a team was standardized, and the time-honored round ball was replaced by an oval of leather harboring an inflated bladder.

In 1862, Gerrit Smith Miller formed the first football club in America. Usually the games were nothing more than free-for-all grudge riots. The players were called "tenders," "rushers," "bulldozers," and "backfielders." Nose-horn-piercing shouting, anything that of men was strictly legal as no set rules governed the size of the field, number of players, or conditions governing the game. Rules merely stated that the ball must be kicked or hit, but not carried. Often, the ball was speared in favor of aiming targets. No time limit was placed on the length of the contest. Often, the game was terminated when the participants were either exhausted or injured.

EXPERTS CREDIT William S. Crammer of Princeton with setting inter-collegiate football in 1869. He set up a code of rules under which the first game of college football was played. Princeton and Rutgers took the field as rivals Nov. 6, 1869. The uniforms were old clothes, and the ball was advanced only by kicking or bunting it with the head, hands, or feet.

Later football was simple and inconsistent. The first rules banned running with, holding, or throwing the ball. Tackling, holding, or tripping opposing players would have brought a severe penalty from the four judges and two referees.

While coaches of today usually employ an offensive and defensive platoon, the only way a player could leave the game in the past of days was to be carried out. Then a substitute could replace him. But once

Salute Salukis

Bill Goodman

Under the Mt. Pleasant dynasty founded the boom on the Leathernecks by sucking up nearly 125 yards through the air and 275 on the ground for an offensive total of almost 400 yards.

Assistant Coach Jim Wilkinson, who scouted the game, reported the Chips connected on six of seven pass attempts in the first half, and three, out of nine in the second half. Wilkinson says although their line is of average weight, it's one of the fastest charging units to be seen on IAC grid irons. According to his report, each position in the backfield averaged almost 100 yards against the Leathernecks. Six capable ball carriers give the Chips unusual depth in the backfield.

Against Western, they employed the "T" or a variation of it almost exclusively, with occasional plays run from a single wing.

COACH O'BRIEN and his assistants Bob Franz, Jim Wilkinson, and Mike Miller have been working the Salukis hard in practice sessions this past week in an effort to strengthen their defensive play.

In the rough-and-tumble contest at DeKalb last Saturday the Huskies netted over 400 yards against the Salukis defense. O'Brien's crew returned from the trip in a bruised, battered, and bitter state. Bob Franz, Bill Spratt, Frank Morgan, Bill Goodman, and Tim Brown were all on the casualty list. Em was literally knocked out of the game in the first quarter, suffering a bruised eye and cheek bone and a slight concussion. Spratt was gravely an old knee injury. Brown, Morgan, and Goodman also suffered leg injuries.

SPRATT, INACTIVE all week is the only player who still is expected to return to the line-up tomorrow night. Even the Salukis' star, Coach O'Brien said he plans to use the club's running attack in an attempt to keep the ball in Southern's possession as long as and as free as possible.

Coach O'Brien said he plans to use the club's running attack in an attempt to keep the ball in Southern's possession as long as and as free as possible. He said the Salukis will have their hands full tomorrow.

The probable starting offensive line-up for Southern:

Wayne Williams	1-E
Bill Johnson	1-E
Tim Brown	1-G
Tom Bishop	1-C
Bill Goodman	1-R
Dan Smith	1-E
Joe Hinkle	1-Q
John Vanderpool	1-B
Bob Jones	1-B

Safukj Pups Encounter Washington Bear Cubs

Southern's B squad will play its second grid game of the season against the Washington university Bears next Monday, Oct. 20, at 3:45 p. m. here in McAndrew Stadium.

Coach Hux Bush's Salukis Pups will be set to average a 13-6 record in the game with the Bear Cubs in a game played early this season.

Bush said he would probably use the same starting line-up for this game. No admission ticket is required for this contest, the last B squad game of the season.

out of the game, he had to stay out. A new rule in 1910 which allowed a player to remain at the start of any subsequent period finally led to the liberal substitution rules of today.

FOOTBALL was a rough and ready game, with virtually no rules. Athletes for their first victory. They lost their only conference game played to date when the Southern Salukis broke a twelve game losing streak by virtue of a 27-20 victory. Closest Normal has come to winning was last Saturday, when they battled Illinois Wesleyan to a 14-14 tie.

Central Michigan's Huskies will be hosts to the Northern Illinois Leathernecks, with a conference record of 3-1, will travel to Bloomington to meet the Illinois Normal Redbirds. Coach Strick's Redbirds are still searching for their first victory. They lost their only conference game played to date when the Southern Salukis broke a twelve game losing streak by virtue of a 27-20 victory. Closest Normal has come to winning was last Saturday, when they battled Illinois Wesleyan to a 14-14 tie.

For the Women

(By Gwen Applegate)
One of the most amazing things about the WAA is the fact that each and every day the girls play their hearts out in the very rough game of hockey and there are so few casualties. Of course, there are a few dented shins and loads of black and blue bruises, but the fact remains that the girls have managed to stay in one piece. Maybe the feminine sex isn't the weaker sex after all!

The Hockey Sports Day that was scheduled for October 16 has been postponed until November 8. It seems that all the schools involved are celebrating Homecoming on that date and would rather attend their own Homecoming.

Yesterday three tennis teams journeyed to Cape Girardeur, Missouri, for a tournament. There were three teams of doubles which included Barbara Rose, Hallie Hallerman, Norma Morris, Anna Mae Hayes, and Bob Robertson, and Gloria Bauli. This team was selected after a round-robin play off held Saturday morning.

The WAA is still in the midst of their hockey tournament. Joan Still's team has won one game, Violet Fisher's team has won one game, and one game ended in a tie.

The hockey game with the faculty and freshmen played the juniors and seniors ended in a 3-0 victory for the juniors and seniors.

Residents of the "Bungalow," 515½ Commercial Avenue, were hostesses at Carle's Wednesday night. All the hostesses were identification tags. Other organized houses are to have charge of Carle on other nights. There is a paper posted on the bulletin board in the gym where members of organized houses can sign if they would like to participate.

There will be a Professional Club building on the SHU campus.

This comes AFTER three long hours of football practice in the evening, every evening. Add this to the statistics load, which also requires outside work, and you have quite a heavy schedule.

It's true, most of Southern's football players are playing ball because they like to. Certainly they're playing for no other reason. Many of them work in the evenings, just like Goodman does.

And, if the boys who work were to organize a club, they'd probably have a big organization. It's nothing unusual to find students here who are working.

But, on the basis of accepting dual responsibilities, you'd have to elect Bill Goodman president of such a club. He's proved that he's willing to give up something to play football. More than most men.

THE FACT that he plays a good job filling any responsibility, whether it's a gas tank or a hole in the line, is a credit to his character. When they pass our letters at the end of this football season, in our book there'll be a big "A," red that is, on Bill's numeral.

to Western Illinois 20-13, but came back with a 13-7 triumph over Eastern Illinois last Saturday.

EASTERN'S PANTHERS took on a non-conference foe tomorrow when they hit the road to face Northwestern Missouri State College. Eastern and Illinois Normal are in for possession of the basement of the conference standings. The Panthers' 13-7 loss to Michigan Normal is the only IAC game they played thus far.

STANDINGS:

Central Michigan Chippewa	2 0 1,000
SALUKIS	1 1 500
Northern Illinois Huskies	1 1 500
Western Illinois Leathernecks	1 1 500
Normal Illinois	1 1 500
Normal Redbirds	0 1 000
Eastern Illinois Panthers	0 1 000

Kahmann Korner

By Jim Kahmann
ILLINI-PASSER: TOM O'CONNELL threaded the needle to the tune of 14 completions in 17 attempts last weekend, as the University of Illinois whizzed over the University of Washington, 48-14. Everybody agreed that this was one of the finest examples of precision passing seen in Memorial Stadium in quite some time. O'Connell threw five touchdown passes in the first 20 minutes of the ball game as he put Washington back on their heels.

Much of the credit must go, however, to the fine protection afforded O'Connell by the entire Illinois team. Whenever Tom went back to pass, he could count "107" before he let go of the ball. Also, the Washington pass defense was about as holy as a piece of Swiss cheese.

Don Heinrich, the Washington passer, and a flinger just as talented, if not more, than O'Connell, had his troubles. When he went back to pitch, the entire Illinois line converged on him, when he hit his receivers, they dropped the ball, when he tried to run, he was stopped cold.

This game was one of the best examples of what it takes to make a passing attack effective. A passer and adept receivers are a must. But just a passer and a receiver don't make a passing attack. Sid Luckman, Johnny Lujack, and even Jimmy's Sammy Baugh don't complete passes without the help of that forward wall and their blocking backs. A passer has GOT to have protection, or he might just as well be throwing ping-pong balls to baby elephants out there.

Whenever a pass is completed, remember before you say, "What a passer, that guy is terrific." Remember that a pass completion comes after good pass protection, no matter who's throwing that apple.

HUSKIES 'BITE' SOUTHERN REALLY HAD an experience last Friday as they lost to the mudmen of Northern, 21-7. From what we hear after talking to spectators at the game in DeKalb, it must have been a bosing, wrestling, an dud might even include SLUGGING, match all in one. When Bob Em has to leave the game in the first few minutes after a questionable maneuver of merely "grazing" things looked kinda' funny. And when several more of our men were victims of similar outbreaks, things really looked bad.

We'd like to provoke the question, "Just what were the referees doing up there?" Most have been like the old boy who saw the gambler slow on up his sleeve. When asked later if he thought the man was cheating, he replied, "I didn't think he was being honest when he put these aces in his sleeve, but I didn't say anything because I thought he might lose."

The Salukis have a chance for Win Number Two Saturday when they play 590 miles up North to the islands of Central Michigan. Needless to say, they learned a lot last week; and unless we miss our guess, husk-like tactics won't go unnoticed this time.

Southern Illinois University's 11 basins contain almost 120,000 ulmes.
